

The project "Residential Arenas" aims to find ways to turn old, unused buildings like stadiums into homes. It focuses on using the existing structure as much as possible to make the project affordable and environmentally friendly, instead of tearing down the building or letting it fall apart.