

Fortresses of Solitude

In this project, we'll be exploring a hypothetical future, 40 years from now on, where the cleaning industries have become frozen in time since people stop caring about cleaning and maintenance a long time ago. This, combined with the worsening conditions of the earth: wildfire, deforestation, flood, diseases, PM 2.5, intense heat, and the rising temperature caused by global warming, creates a dystopian future where most places on earth have become unfit to live due to poor sanitation.

In response to these worsening conditions, humanity has begun its mass retreat underground. Vast subterranean cities have sprung up, a refuge from the toxic air and relentless storms above. One of the underground bunkers is a secret lair where it has become a gathering place for a group of people that want to make a change to this decaying world.
