

Celestial Residence

This high-end residential proposal near the Chan-Naradhiwas intersection blends luxury living with local context. Surrounded by low-rise buildings and shophouses, the design fosters connection and identity through retail spaces at street level, enabling interaction and community. Inspired by traditional Thai shophouses, the project integrates vertical stacking, natural ventilation, and energy efficiency for tropical climates. It features four unit types, terrace for openness, and separate circulation for enhanced privacy. Ground-floor retail connects residents to the vibrant local culture, while underground parking ensures functionality, creating a harmonious balance between urban luxury and community integration.
