

Arcadian City

Ar-ca-di-an /är' kädéan/

Transforming Bangkok's abandoned Sathorn Unique Tower into a vertical refuge during flooding, combining adaptive reuse with ecological renewal. Refugees repurpose materials, reshaping the structure as nature reclaims it, highlighting resilience, social stratification, and communal living. Inspired by Lebbeus Woods and Bryan Cantley, the project envisions a utopian revival of an urban relic.

